Suggests That Players Be Numbered.

The Oregon Emerald suggests that figures be placed on the backs of foot ball players, just as is now done with the contestants in track meets. By such method, the spectators would be enabled to distinguish the players readily, and could tell who are making the star play. At present, it is the man who possesses some peculiar feature in his appearance, such as red hair or length or avoirdupois, or who wears a bandage, who receives the most notice. With numerals on their backs, applause could be given to those really doing the best playing. -Daily Californian.
